The Attorney General and his Legislative Drafting Team is pleased to bring you the third issue of our quarterly Legislative Drafting Update Newsletter.

Indeed, it has been a very busy but successful and eventful quarter, with the completion of major projects such as the Consolidation of Laws 2007-2008 and the first ever Legislative Drafting Handbook for Samoa. Whoever said that legislative drafting is a “dry” area of the legal profession will need to reconsider!

Like its predecessors, we continue to update you on the latest government policies that have been translated and approved as laws. Not only that but we also continue to provide you with brief summaries of these laws because as one would find, reading a piece of legislation is almost as challenging as drafting it!

As promised in our previous issue, we will also provide reports on events undertaken and attended by our Team such as our first Legislative Drafting In-country Training for 2008 and the International Criminal Court Seminar.

It is our hope that this Newsletter will provide you with a refreshed outlook on legislative reform and its developments in Samoa. May it continue to keep you aware, informed and interested in our country’s legislative progress, but most importantly may we continue to appreciate the importance of our working together to assure compliance with the laws of Samoa.

From the Attorney General and the Legislative Drafting Team—happy reading!

LAUNCH OF SAMOA’S FIRST LEGISLATIVE DRAFTING HANDBOOK

It is a privilege in this issue to report on the completion of the Legislative Drafting Handbook Project, which was officially launched on Friday 19 September by the Honourable Prime Minister, Tuilaepa L. Malielegaoi.

The project was initiated by the Office of the Attorney General in conjunction with the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly. It was implemented with assistance from the Public Sector Improvement Facility (PSIF) within the Government of Samoa, and utilised funds provided to the PSIF by the Governments of Australia and New Zealand.

The Handbook was prepared, reviewed and modified by the Office of the Attorney General with the assistance of Legislative Drafting Consultant, Mr. Graham Bruce Powell.

Mr Powell has, over the last 11 years, drafted laws for 8 Pacific Island countries including Fiji, Papua New Guinea, Solomon Islands and Tonga. Based on his experience, Mr Powell stated that Samoa is by far foremost in legislative reform in the South Pacific region and this is proven not only by our legislative reform record, but also by the completion of this Handbook, which is also the first of its kind in the Pacific region.

Tobacco Control Act 2008

Health issues regarding tobacco use continues to be a national as well as international concern. To help combat the negative impacts tobacco smoking causes in Samoa, Parliament passed the Tobacco Control Act 2008 on 16 July.

The Act regulates the marketing, advertising, sale, promotion and distribution of tobacco products, whether directly or through the sponsorship of other products, services or events.

MISCELLANEOUS FEES AMENDMENT ACT 2008

Parliament passed the Miscellaneous Fees Amendment Act 2008 on 16 July to amend the fees and charges payable to government in various Acts of Parliament. The Act also validates fees and charges in accordance with a function under the relevant Act.

First of all, under the Film Control Act 1978, the Principal Censor is required to approve any film that is not exempted under the Film Control Act 1978 for public exhibition and lending. The Film Control Board approves applications from potential exhibitors and lenders for the exhibition and lending of films that are approved by the Principal Censor.

The new Act provides for the various fees that the Film Control Board may charge for the issuing of licenses and the approving of films under the Film Control Act 1978.

Secondly, under the Business Licences Act 1998, any person who operates a business activity is required to apply to the Commissioner of Revenue for a licence to carry out the activity. The Ministry of Revenue charges various fees for the processing of applications and the issuing of licences for business activities. These fees are also provided by the new Act.

Finally, under the Electric Power Corporation Act 1980, one of the statutory functions of the Electric Power Corporation is to sell electricity to any person on terms and conditions that the Corporation determines, and to recover money for the same. The new Act gives the Minister the power to determine an additional charge for the supply of electricity to compensate the Corporation for the cost of fuel that is used for the supply of electricity.

PASSPORTS ACT 2008

In our society today, travelling to and from overseas is becoming more popular and frequent. This raises a need to strictly monitor the process allowing a person to travel, which means ensuring that Samoans travelling overseas carry the correct documents. This new law gives proper recognition to Samoan passports and to the right of Samoan citizens to such passports.

Parliament passed the Passports Act 2008 on 19 August to also consolidate and amend the law relating to travel documents to be made and recognised in Samoa.

The Act, therefore, allows for 3 types of travel documents to be made and recognised in Samoa, through the Ministry responsible for Immigration, the Ministry of the Prime Minister and Cabinet. These 3 travel documents are namely the Samoan passport, the certificate of identity, and the document of identity.

In relation to each travel document, the Act makes proper provision for how each travel document is to be prepared and who may be entitled to apply for each travel document.

The Act also makes provisions for the period of validity of each travel document; how each travel document may be cancelled; and the offences for forging and making false Samoan travel documents, falsifying foreign passports and other offences relating to passport information and material.
CONSTITUTION AMENDMENT ACT 2008

This Act, which was passed by Parliament on 17 July, makes amendments to Articles 95 and 96 of the Constitution.

These amendments change the ceiling of what the Minister responsible for Finance may authorise, to be expended in excess of or without the appropriation of the Legislative Assembly, from 1% to 3% of the total amount of all sums appropriated by the Appropriation Act for a financial year.

PUBLIC FINANCE MANAGEMENT AMENDMENT ACT 2008

This amendment to the Public Finance Management Act 2001 is to accommodate the changes provided by the above Constitution Amendment Act 2008.

The changes to Articles 95 and 96 of the Constitution increases the amount reserved for “Unforeseen Expenditure” which will now stand at 3% of the total Appropriation Act of any financial year.

Parliament passed this Act on 17 July.

ROAD TRAFFIC AMENDMENT ACT 2008

The Road Traffic Amendment Act 2008 was passed by Parliament on 18 September. It amends the Road Traffic Ordinance 1960 to facilitate the implementation of the Land Transport Authority Act 2007 and the establishment of the Land Transport Authority sometime soon.

The Act also repeals the Schedule of fees and charges previously imposed by the Transport Control Board. Once this Act is implemented, the Land Transport Authority will become the “Board” referred to in the Ordinance and all references to fees in the Ordinance will become references to the fees prescribed by regulations made under the Land Transport Authority Act 2007.

The right to impose fees for the endorsement of international driving licences is provided for, and the Land Transport Authority has the right to change the current licensing arrangements for vehicles so that vehicle licences shall be valid for a period of 12 months irrespective of their date of issue. This replaces the current arrangements under which all licences must be renewed by 31 March of each year.

The Handbook sets the requirements for legislative drafting in Samoa, as well as the different processes and roles involved. Such roles begin with the primary policy making responsibility and extends to many aspects of the implementation and management of legislative reform. The Handbook provides guidelines not only for our local drafters and local consultants, but also for those based overseas who intend to draft laws for Samoa.

The Handbook hopes also to improve legislation produced as one of its objectives is to eliminate the production of laws that fail to meet the most “basic technical assessments and quality tests”. The Handbook clearly stipulates the necessity for any legislative drafter drafting a law for Samoa to have sufficient background knowledge of the domestic legislative framework for Samoa, so in complying with such a necessity, the laws produced should be ideal and suitable for Samoa. Also, as the Honourable Prime Minister stated in his speech:

“I am certain that the Handbook will prevent any more drafting of laws that cannot be implemented.”

The Office of the Attorney General and Mr Powell conducted workshops on Thursday 18 September for members from government Ministries, and on Friday 19 September for members from statutory authorities. This was the first time that the Handbook was introduced and presented, and members were given the opportunity to raise questions and opinions on the Handbook as well as problem areas and their previous experiences with the legislative process.

The workshops explained the contents of the Handbook with the hope to ensure that leaders are aware of the legislative process in Samoa, and that in the days, months, years and decades to come, cooperation and effective communication and understanding between drafters and their clients will be better understood and appreciated so as to produce the best, necessary and most efficient laws for Samoa. It is our hope to see the intentions and objectives of the Handbook realised.

Any queries regarding the Handbook may be made to Parliamentary Counsel Teleiai Lalotoa Mulitalo or Parliamentary Counsel Papali’i Malietau Malietoa.
EVENTS OF JULY 1—30 SEPTEMBER 2008

On Wednesday 23 July, the Consolidation of Laws 2007-2008 Project was launched by the Honourable Prime Minister, Tuilaepa Lupesoliai Sailele Malielegaoi. The event took place in the Legislative Assembly’s Lounge and present to witness this event were the Honourable Speaker of the House and his Deputy, members of Parliament, the Chief Justice, Judges, other members of the Samoa Law Society, staff of the Legislative Assembly as well as the staff of the Office of the Attorney General.

The Acts of the Samoan Parliament have been revised and consolidated up until 31st December 2007. The Consolidation was undertaken with the authority of the Attorney General, Aumua Ming C. Leung Wai, under the Revision and Publication of Laws Act 2008, which is a major advance on the Reprint of Statutes Act 1972.

The project was assisted with funding provided by the Samoa Public Sector Improvement Facility, and was undertaken by the Legislative Drafting Team and the Office of the Legislative Assembly with the assistance and guidance of Legislative Specialist, Graham Bruce Powell.

Prior to the completion of this project, the Acts of the Samoan Parliament had been unrevised and unconsolidated for over 10 years. We are thankful for the modern developments in information technology, which has played a major role in allowing this comprehensive revision, consolidation, modernisation and publication of the Acts.

It is hoped that this new consolidation will mark the beginning and set the path for ensuring that the Acts of Samoa will continue to be consolidated annually and in accordance with the Revision and Publication of Laws Act 2008.

From 4 to 8 August, an In-Country Training Programme was conducted on the Basic Principles of Legislative Drafting. The Training was conducted by Patrick Dodgson from the Office of the Legislative Drafting and Publishing, a division of the Australian Attorney-General’s Department. He was assisted by Parliamentary Counsel Teleiai Lalotoa S. Mulitalo.

The Training was approved by the Public Service Commission, and was funded by New Zealand Aid through Oloamanu Centre.

A total of 13 lawyers participated—legal officers from the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment, Ministry of Agriculture, and Samoa International Finance Authority, as well as 10 lawyers from our Office, 6 of whom were from the Legislative Drafting Division.

The course took us through the structure of legislation, the process of dealing with client agencies in developing legislation, the principles of drafting, and time management ideas. We did exercises in recasting material and writing new provisions. We also worked on a set of drafting instructions, raising questions for the client, planning a draft, and drafting a bill. Patrick left us with an electronic copy of the materials used for the course, which includes a handbook that is a useful reference for information about the process of drafting legislation.

This course was the first formal Legislative Drafting Training for the new junior drafters and lawyers from our Office as well as from the other Ministries and Authority, and was a refresher course for senior drafters. At the end of the Training, the Chairman of the Public Service Commission rewarded our performance with Certificates.

All participants agreed that this Training was indeed very useful and beneficial if not enjoyable as well. We look forward for more trainings as such for the further advancement of our legislative drafting capacity.
INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL COURT SEMINAR

The Office of the Attorney General co-hosted with the regional arm of the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) a Seminar on the International Criminal Court (ICC) on the 14th and 15th of August.

The Prime Minister of Samoa, Honourable Tuilaepa Lupe-solialia Sailele Malielegaoi, opened the Seminar and noted in his speech that:

"It is important to remember that despite our distances from many of the troubles spots on the globe, the Pacific is no longer immune to conflicts that may have cross border or international dimensions. Our collective human history has shown that "injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere" and the ICC represents a universal stand against some of the most serious international crimes against humanity. A remarkable consensus and one that bodes well for international security".

The Seminar brought together several delegations from various Pacific Island countries. All delegations consisted of individuals from Ministries of Justice and Foreign Affairs.

The primary objective of the Seminar was to promote in our region the following:
- increase knowledge about the ICC;
- encourage States that have not yet become parties to consider accession to the Rome Statute ("the treaty"); and
- support States that have or wish to become party to the treaty to adopt suitable implementing legislation.

Worldwide there are 108 State Parties to the treaty, which includes seven from the Pacific region (Australia, Cook Is, Fiji, Marshall Is, Nauru, New Zealand and Samoa). To date only three of these Pacific States (Australia, New Zealand and Samoa) have implementing legislation with Samoa passing its ICC Act this year.

One of the notable speakers at the Seminar was Judge Tuiloma Neroni Slade who was a former judge of the ICC and recently appointed as the new Secretary General of the Pacific Islands Forum Secretariat in Fiji. Judge Slade noted in his address:

"I believe we should make it our commitment to make the Rome Statute universal and to ensure the cooperation and participation of States that the International Criminal Court requires. The Court cannot be effective by itself. The support it currently enjoys needs to be even more widespread and from many more countries, including from our own region".

Many of the participants provided feedback about the obstacles that they confronted in their own countries regarding accession to the treaty or the drafting and implementation of ICC legislation. These concerns were addressed during the Seminar where technical assistance was on offer from the regional office of the ICRC to those Pacific States that have yet to become parties to the treaty.

At the conclusion of the two day Seminar, the Attorney General, Aumua Ming C. Leung Wai, hosted a farewell function for all participants at the Historic Robert Louis Stevenson Homestead Museum at Vailima.

MARITIME POLICY AND LEGISLATIVE DRAFTING

As reported in our previous issue, Parliamentary Counsel, Teleiai Lalotoa S. Mulitalo, was a resource person in a one week regional workshop in Suva, Fiji, concerning Maritime Policy and Legislative Drafting. The Workshop was organised by the Secretariat of the Pacific Community (SPC), Regional Maritime Programme.

Representatives from Pacific Island countries undertook this workshop, and our Senior Legislative Drafter, Loretta Teueli, attended together with a member from the Ministry of Agriculture as the representatives from Samoa.

Ms Mulitalo presented on the second and last part of the Workshop, which addressed the various methodologies in different Pacific Island countries in translating International Maritime Organisation Conventions into domestic law.

The first part established the international maritime regulatory regime under International Maritime Organisation Conventions. It detailed the most important aspects for formulating regional and national maritime policies.
On 4 September, we received a visit from Doug Rutherford of the Australian Attorney-General’s Department (AGD). Doug is Coordinator of the Pacific Islands Law Officers’ Network (PILON) Secretariat, and his visit was to discuss PILON and to let us know about AGD’s new programme of legal assistance available to Pacific Island countries.

AGD has recently established a new Pacific Section which offers Pacific Island countries assistance to review, develop and draft police and criminal justice legislation as part of Australia’s Pacific Police Development Programme. When the new team is fully staffed, it will include eight legal advisors who will be available to assist with police, criminal justice policy and legislative issues.

AGD is also offering to assist with legislative drafting to implement changes or reforms. The Section is already working with Tuvalu and the Pacific Regional Policing Initiative to develop and draft police legislation.

Ms Holt was the Second Parliamentary Counsel in Fiji from September 2003 to September 2005.

Ms Holt will be with us for 2 years under an Australian Aid programme, during which time we hope to gain as much as possible from her extensive experience and knowledge in legislative drafting as they will provide higher standards for our Team to work towards.

SOUTH PACIFIC PRECURSOR CONTROL FORUM LEGAL WORKSHOP

On 30 September, the Office of the Attorney General and the Australian Attorney-General’s Department co-hosted the South Pacific Precursor Control Forum (SPPCF) conference in Apia.

Participants that attended were from SPPCF member countries: Fiji, Nauru, New Zealand, Palau, PNG, Samoa, Solomon Islands, Tonga, and Vanuatu. Also in attendance were representatives from the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, the Pacific Islands Forum Secretariat, the Pacific Islands Chiefs of Police, and the Oceania Customs Organisation.

The conference built upon the positive outcomes of the last two SPPCF meetings through further consideration of legislative and regulatory measures to prevent, investigate and prosecute precursor chemical diversion in order to combat the threat of amphetamine-type stimulants (ATS) in the Pacific region.

The need to strengthen local illicit drug control legislation was recognised at the inaugural SPPCF meeting in February 2007 in Sydney, Australia, where delegates agreed to consider the status of local legislative and regulatory controls on precursor chemicals.

Legislative reform was also identified as a priority area for the SPPCF Regional Strategic Plan at the second SPPCF meeting in Auckland, New Zealand, in August 2007. The key topics that were discussed at the Legal Workshop included:

- United Nations Conventions relating to illicit drugs;
- the Model Illicit Drug Control Bill developed by the Pacific Islands Forum Secretariat;
- recent legislative reform initiatives of SPPCF member countries; and
- strategies and challenges for SPPCF member countries pursuing legislative reforms.

PACIFIC ISLANDS LAW OFFICERS’ NETWORK— PACIFIC SECTION

On 4 September, we received a visit from Doug Rutherford of the Australian Attorney-General’s Department (AGD). Doug is Coordinator of the Pacific Islands Law Officers’ Network (PILON) Secretariat, and his visit was to discuss PILON and to let us know about AGD’s new programme of legal assistance available to Pacific Island countries.

AGD has recently established a new Pacific Section which offers Pacific Island countries assistance to review, develop and draft police and criminal justice legislation as part of Australia’s Pacific Police Development Programme. When the new team is fully staffed, it will include eight legal advisors who will be available to assist with police, criminal justice policy and legislative issues.

AGD is also offering to assist with legislative drafting to implement changes or reforms. The Section is already working with Tuvalu and the Pacific Regional Policing Initiative to develop and draft police legislation.

Over coming months, officers from the Section will be traveling to Pacific Island countries to meet with agencies and stakeholders to discuss the assistance that is available, and to identify where AGD can assist with legal policy or legislative work on police and criminal justice issues. They are hoping to identify Pacific agencies that have a need for assistance to review or draft crime-related legislation where those activities would otherwise be difficult to carry out within existing resources.

The Pacific Section is keen to begin working with our Office on legislative projects.

The Pacific Section’s Director, Lucinda Atkinson, visited Samoa at the end of September to discuss proposals further with us and to also attend the South Pacific Precursor Control Forum Legal Workshop (see above).

For more information about the Pacific Section, go to www.pilonsec.org.
Review of Maritime Laws

Translating International Maritime Laws to Domestic Law

Background

The first regional meeting of Pacific Islands Ministers responsible for Maritime Transport was held in Apia on 19 April 2007. Amongst other important matters endorsed by the Ministers of Maritime Transport in that meeting was the review of national maritime legislation in-country to ensure compliance with relevant international instruments.

The Secretariat of the Pacific Community (SPC), in particular the Regional Maritime Programme (RMP), is charged with developing generic maritime working draft legislation to be made available to all Pacific Island countries to adopt and apply as and if they choose. To discharge this obligation, SPC/RMP engaged the PIMLA (Pacific International Maritime Lawyers Association) to develop generic working drafts from the Suppression of Unlawful Acts at Sea Convention (SUA Convention) and its related Protocols and the Regulations on the Long Range Identification and Trafficking of Ships (LRIT Regulations).

Invitation to Parliamentary Counsel, Office of the Attorney General

From 22 to 26 September, Teleiai Lalotoa S. Mulitalo, Parliamentary Counsel was invited by the Executive Council of PIMLA to join the Review Team and assist maritime law experts in developing generic domestic working draft laws on two sources of international law – the SUA Convention and LRIT Regulations.

The purpose of these generic working drafts is to discharge the responsibility given by the Pacific Islands Maritime Transport Ministers and respective governments to make available generic working draft legislation at the disposal of Pacific islands and for consistency of maritime legislation in the Pacific.

In developing these generic working drafts (Bills and Regulations), the Review Team appreciates that all Pacific Island countries have their own practices and conventions in drafting legislation and further, that all Pacific Island countries have their own unique features pertaining to government authorities, government policies, judiciary, parliaments, other domestic bodies and their specific powers.

The generic working drafts prepared by the Review Team are therefore only a guide to incorporating the obligations under the International Maritime Organisation SUA Convention and LRIT Regulations and Pacific islands may adopt, adapt and discard at their discretion to suit their own local circumstances and in particular to be in compliance with their own Constitution and existing law.

OTHER EVENTS

Lawyers vs Doctors—Annual Sports Day

Every year, lawyers of Samoa go head to head with the doctors of Samoa in a one day sports competition for the annual Prime Minister’s Cup.

On Saturday 27 September, the lawyers continued their reign from last year by retaining the Cup for 2008.

The day kicked off at 7am with the lawyer’s personal favourite—golf, which was held at the Fagagai Golf Course. We then continued to Samoa College at 12pm where the remainder of the games—touch, volleyball, and soccer—were played.

In addition to our daily Office work, we are always mindful of the need to stay healthy and fit. This event is a great opportunity for us to put our sporting talents to practice and promote the importance of health and fitness in Samoa.
UPCOMING EVENTS

CONSOLIDATION OF LAWS 2008-2009

The Legislative Drafting Team will conduct the 2008-2009 Consolidation of Laws towards the end of this year. It is hoped that we continue to undertake this annually so as to constantly update the Samoan public on the changes to our laws, as well as making it easier for correct reference and use.

As reported earlier, this consolidation is done pursuant to the Revision and Publication of Laws Act 2008.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PILON

The Attorney General will be attending the 27th PILON meeting which is expected to be held in Vanuatu from 5 to 9 December.

PILON was established in 1982 and is a network of senior public law officers from Pacific Island countries, including Australia and New Zealand.

PILON focuses on common legal issues within the Pacific region. For the PILON website, go to page 7.

PILON LITIGATION SKILLS WORKSHOP

Four lawyers from the Office of the Attorney General will be going to Vanuatu to attend this workshop from 30 November to 6 December.

This workshop is organised by the New Zealand Crown Law Office, New Zealand Law Society, and NZAID.

The workshop is a biannual seminar held for lawyers from around the region with at least 3 years post admission. It is based on 2 case scenarios where lawyers are asked to prepare throughout the week, culminating in mock trials.

Samoa has participated since the early 1990s and has included lawyers from other Ministries such as the Ministry of Police and the Ministry of Revenue and Customs.

PROFESSIONAL DIPLOMA IN LEGISLATIVE DRAFTING—WORKSHOP

As reported in Volume 1, Issue 1, the Professional Diploma in Legislative Drafting (PDDL) Course is a 30 week programme in which participants learn practical skills in translating government policies into clear and effective laws that can be understood and applied by a variety of stakeholders.

It has been realised that the need for high quality legislative drafters is one of the most pressing legal needs in the Pacific region. Several international and regional organisations provide practical support for specific legislative drafting projects, but there is also a need to build the legislative drafting capacity of those working in various government sectors.

The University of the South Pacific has for many years offered this Course as the premier qualification in legislative drafting in the South Pacific, and in the previous years this Course was undertaken by the senior members of the Legislative Drafting Team. This year the Commonwealth of Learning (COL) agreed to fund a number of regional students from Commonwealth countries to undertake the Course. The funding covers the full tuition fees for the programme.

The four members undertaking this Course from our Office for this year are Principal State Solicitor, Donald Kerslake, Senior State Solicitor, Mareva Betham-Annandale, State Solicitor, Constance Tafua-Rivers, and State Solicitor, Lanola Petelo-Faasau. They will be traveling to Fiji in November to attend a 1 day workshop, which is conducted as the final component of the Course.

NEXT ISSUE

In our next Issue, we will continue to address the laws that have been passed by Parliament as well as those that are still with Parliament. We will also provide reports on the above upcoming events.
